How to conceal galvanized cable trays

Overview

In setups where cables run along the floor, use cable covers to protect and conceal them. These covers come in different materials, such as rubber or fabric, and can be placed directly on the floor to hide cables running from devices to power sources. For years we ran our speaker and entertainment center wires under an area rug. But every time I'd sweep, I had to hassle with. Let's explore some clever solutions to hide your cables and keep your setup tidy. Cable trays and raceways are simple yet effective tools for organizing and hiding cables. You'll be wire-less (or at least it will appear more like it) before you know it. * This post may contain affiliate links. They don't cost you a penny.
